The Imported Meat Trade Association was formed in 1895 as the Frozen Meat Trade Association. The name was changed to the International Meat Trade Association following the UK's accession to the European Union. Previously members had been mainly involved in meat importing, but have subsequently widened their activities to include exports.

IMTA members now consist not only of companies engaged in importing and exporting of meat and meat products, but also of meat wholesalers and distributors and in some instances other products. IMTA also has an Associate Membership category for those whose interests are linked to the meat trade.

IMTA has regular meetings with relevant UK Government agencies, is a member of the European Meat and Livestock Association (UECBV), and has regular contact with the EU Commission in Brussels.

The Association maintains a List of Registered Surveyors who are able to provide surveys for members and non-members alike.

The most recent International Meat Trade Association Terms and Conditions of Trade printed herein became available for use by members on 12 February 2016. These revised terms replace any earlier editions. They are also available on our website www.imta-uk.org

Revisions to these Conditions may only be made pursuant to a Special Resolution passed at an Extraordinary General Meeting of the Association and come into force 3 months after the date of notification to the members of the passing of that Resolution.

Date: 12 February 2016

that they are at all times identifiable as the Seller's monies and in the case of tangible proceeds keep them properly stored, protected and insured.

- (3) At any time until the goods delivered have been paid for and without prejudice to any other remedies available to the Seller, the Seller or its agents shall be entitled immediately after giving notice of its intention to do so to enter upon the premises of the Buyer with such transport as may be necessary and repossess any goods to which it has title hereunder.

Tares – test weighing.

- (a) In the case of a Buyer wishing to substantiate a shortweight claim, such claim shall be determined by one of the following methods:-

Taking the Marked Net Weight of the product manually or via a scanned barcode

Or

- (i) From the Gross Weight deduct the official tare as denoted by the supplier and as described on the carton/packaging and/or documentation as prepared by the supplier.

Or

- (ii) In the case of the above method not being available, or in the event of any dispute on the official tare then:-

The tare is to be assessed by weighing the following quantities gross and calculating an average tare by weighing the packing material including all wrapping materials other than the immediate wrapping of the Meat which cannot be easily removed and after the contents have been removed. The quantity to be tested shall be no less than five individual cartons/packs and no more than a maximum test of 50 individual cartons/packs of each weight range where carton sizes and packs differ.

- (b) The weight obtained by the above methods shall be treated as the net weight provided that the weight of these materials is within the tolerances prescribed by the Weights and Measures Act 1985 or any subsequent change in legislation that occurs from time to time.
- (c) The cost of test weighing shall be paid by the Seller only if a short weight claim is upheld. The Seller shall have the right to be represented at all tests for tare.

QUALITY AND CONDITION CLAIMS

Shortage, Quality and Condition.

- (a) The Buyer has a duty of care to inspect the goods and any surrounding packaging upon receipt. In the case of claims relating to quality and/or condition, and before any further distribution of the goods is made, the Buyer must notify the Seller of such claims within the following time limits:-

- (b) The time limits described in (a) will apply in the case of inherent fault, except for those products below where a Buyer cannot reasonably detect a fault on immediate inspection:-
- 14 calendar days in respect of Vacuum Packed Chilled Beef.
 - 1 (one) calendar month in respect of Frozen Meat and frozen non-meat goods.
- (c) Following notification of a claim for defects, whether visible or hidden, the Buyer must provide the Seller with documentation to support the claim, such documentation to be supplied promptly. In addition to the time limits in (a) and (b) above the Buyer shall be allowed additional time to provide supporting documentation as follows:
- 5 calendar days for Fresh and Chilled Vacuum Packed product other than Vacuum Packed Chilled Beef.
 - 14 calendar days in respect of Vacuum Packed Chilled Beef, Frozen Meat and frozen non-meat goods.
 - On application in writing by the Buyer, the Seller may agree to vary the time limits referred above to allow the Buyer reasonable time to provide additional documentation in support of their claim.
- (d) The Buyer shall not be entitled to any compensation, or reduction in or refund of price paid for the goods or any part thereof, or to make any claims arising out of condemnation of the meat unless the Buyer notifies the Seller by written communication including e-mail of any proposed condemnation prior to the same being condemned.

Sampling.

- 22 In the event of a dispute or claim for condition or quality, in order to establish the validity of any complaint the parties shall be entitled to inspect the goods under dispute. In so doing the parties may agree that a sample representing the consignment as a whole or that part of the consignment under dispute should be selected for physical and/or visual examination.
- 23 The sample or samples selected must be of sufficient quantity to be considered a representative sample, taking into account practicalities of carrying out such sampling in a veterinary controlled production and cold store environment. In order to carry out an inspection, the consignment in its entirety should be made available. If the goods have been dispatched in part, then sufficient quantity must be made available from the balance remaining for a sample to be obtained that is considered to be representative. Provided a sufficient proportion of the consignment is available, a sample of 10% (ten per cent) of the overall consignment in dispute is deemed to be representative of the consignment as a whole, but the parties may agree to a lesser quantity or percentage subject to the nature of the claim being made, the purpose for which the sample is being taken and the type and value of product being sampled.

- 24 Goods presented for sampling must be previously unopened cartons or units and contain identification in the form of labelling and health marks in order to correctly identify the consignment. Any goods selected for inspection and sampling should be selected at random.
- 25 In respect of a claim or complaint on the weight of a consignment, the entire consignment must be made available for testing unless the parties agree otherwise, other than when the dispute requires a test for tare, when the provisions of clause 20(a) shall apply.
- 26 If the claim for the issues described herein of quality, condition, specification, weight and tares is upheld, then the costs of inspection and associated costs of sampling are to be met by the seller. If the claim is unproven, the costs of inspection and associated costs of sampling are to be met by the buyer.
- Rejection* 27 In the event of the Buyer having a valid reason to reject the goods either in full or in part following receipt/delivery, and having provided notice to the Seller within the stated time schedule for reporting claims, then the Buyer must provide for the safe return of the goods in the condition as originally delivered/collected. In such case the Seller's liability to the Buyer will be restricted to providing credit for the invoice value of the goods to the Buyer plus any additional transport or storage charges incurred.
- Exclusion for consequential losses.* 28 Except in respect of death or personal injury caused by the Seller's negligence, the Seller shall not be liable to the Buyer by reason of any representation or any implied or express warranty, condition or other terms or any duty at common law under the express warranty, condition or other terms or any duty at common law under the express terms of the Contract for any consequential loss or damage (whether for loss of profit or otherwise), costs, expenses or other claims for consequential compensation whatsoever (and whether caused by negligence of the Seller, its employees or agents or otherwise) which arise out of or in connection with the supply of the Meat or its use or resale by the Buyer, save as expressly provided in this clause.
- Insolvency.* 29 If either party makes any voluntary arrangement with its creditors or becomes subject to an administration order or, being an individual or firm, becomes bankrupt or, being a company, goes into liquidation (otherwise than for the purposes of amalgamation or reconstruction) or an encumbrancer takes possession of the Meat of that party or any part thereof or a receiver or an administrative receiver is appointed of any of the property or assets of that party or that party seizes or threatens to cease carrying on business or the other party reasonably apprehends that any of the aforementioned events is about to occur in relation to that party (and notifies that party accordingly), then without prejudice to any other right or remedy available to the other party, that other party shall be entitled at its sole discretion to cancel the Contract and/or suspend any further dealings under the Contract without any liability to the other party and if the Meat shall have been delivered but not paid for, the price shall become immediately due and payable notwithstanding any previous agreement or arrangement to the contrary.
